mountaineering, as in so many other movements of New World development. Mountaineering has always held the glamour of romance for those whose lives are necessarily inactive, so that a glimpse at the field life of the A. C. C. should be of interest, and more especially now when the climbing season is closing and the annual camp of 1919 is of the quite recent past.

The Alpine Club of Canada is a daughter of the famous Alpine Club of England with which it is closely affiliated, but differs from the parent organization in this important regard: In order to qualify for membership in the English Club, one must already be an experienced climber; the Canadian Club is primarily a school for budding mountaineers. Each season a camp is held for the exclusive purpose of inculcating the principles of rock and snow climbing. Swiss guides are employed so that, by their example, the best and safest methods may be learned. The unvarying skill of these men is a revelation to those who have never seen the Swiss in his native habitat, and the wisdom of this policy is fully demonstrated in the fact that, although there are now very many Canadians whose training in the hills has advanced until they are quite independent of professional guides, there has never been an avoidable accident at any of the Club camps and even unavoidable accidents have been so rare as to be counted negligible. This is in striking contrast with the record of the Swiss Alps, where many lives are lost yearly, almost entirely through inexperience or lack of proper instruction.

But it is, after all, the mountaineer and his craft that most appeal to the Great Public, and it may be said that this part of the Club life and work if we take words on the magic carpet and are whisked by it away to one of the annual "camps"—by preference the great Victory Camp held only a few weeks since in the marvellous Yoho Valley.

On reaching Field it is only seven miles to Camp, and good trail all the way. We start out in good spirits, and cross by bridge the turbulent Kicking Horse River. The trail winds back and forth to make a possible grade up the steep mountain side. We do not strike water, and thirst grows acute. We are convinced that half an hour will amply suffice to reach the summit, but after two hours of very real work we learn that we are now "nearly half-way there." For hours we have been toiling upward through forest so dense as to obscure all scenery. Now we stand on a bare ridge so narrow there is scarce room for the trail to grip. On right and left tower great sentinels, Mounts Field and Burgess, the latter a sheer precipice of black rock, while between the two is framed a wonderful panorama of cliffs, snow-crag, hanging glaciers and foaming waterfall ribbons. At our feet lies a vast valley green with spruce and pine, and in its heart is set a perfect turquoise lake, milky blue-green shading into true emerald where cloud shadows drift across its placid surface.

But afternoon advances and we push on along the rugged sides of Mount Field and Mount Wapta until there is the glimmer of white tents among the trees and Camp at last receives us. Centred is the great campfire, with its circle of logs for seats. In the open space beyond the campfire are bell tents for the men, and in the other direction the ladies' quarters, pitched in the seclusion of the glades. Near at hand is the Dining Tent, a hundred feet square and open on all sides to the winds of heaven. Conveniently contiguous are the Administration and Commissary Tents; and last, but not least, the Tea Tent—where fair hands under the sunburnt discipline of rare amusements and biscuits to ravenous returning climbers.

It is dark when the camping ground is reached, with tents pitched on the very edge of a plunging mountain stream.

By earliest morning, up and away on the Little Yoho Trail. We travel thirty strong, but only six are to reach the ascent of Marpole, the others being bound for Mount Victoria; then, after a long and tiring climb, they begin a qualifying climb, the accomplishment of which entitles newcomers to active membership.

At last is reached the foot of the mountain proper, where are left alpenstocks, for Marpole is to be conquered with no appliances. Now comes the climb, and so, cliff after cliff is conquered until we stand on the summit and feast eyes on the sea of peaks opened to gaze. Chief among these, there, is that of Edward Whymper, the conqueror of the Matterhorn; and we discover that we have made our climb on the thirteenth anniversary of that great climber's ascent.

The Alpine Club of Canada is all things to all people. To the strenuous it offers exercise unvarnished for excitement and interest in successful accomplishment. See Canada First. And there is no grander part of Canadians' scenic heritage than the great mountain range of our farthest West. And therefore be advised: Next summer, you who have vacations to spend and love the great outdoors, pack up and go west to the camps of the Alpine Club and you will surely return therefrom larger, wiser, clearer-eyed, sunbrowned, with greater faith and health and energy and power.

LOOKS LIKE THE END OF THE BIG SFT COAL STRIKE

Wilson Makes Proposal and U. M. W. Chiefs Favor It—Terms Kept Secret

But Are Reported to be 14 Per Cent. Increase With Commission to Study Case

Chicago, Dec. 7.—The proposal presented to John L. Lewis, Acting President, and William Green, Secretary, of the United Mine Workers, by President Wilson and Attorney-General Palmer in Washington last night, included a 14 per cent. wage advance to miners and the appointment of a commission to study wages, and all conditions surrounding the industry upon resumption of work by the striking miners, according to private advices from the National Capital received by Dr. C. C. Hignold, Secretary of the Illinois Coal Operators' Association, today.

Washington, Dec. 7.—Attorney-General Palmer announced this morning that President Wilson had made to the coal miners a definite concrete proposal looking to a speedy termination of the strike and an adjustment of the entire controversy, and that the Acting President Lewis and Secretary Green of the miners had accepted the acceptance at a meeting of the Scale Committee, called to meet in Indianapolis on Tuesday.

The President's terms were submitted to Acting-President Lewis and Secretary Green at a meeting yesterday at the Department of Justice, which was attended also by Joseph Tumulty, Secretary to the President. Mr. Palmer had previously seen over the whole coal situation with the President.

Mr. Lewis and Mr. Green, whose presence in Washington was unknown until the announcement was made, endorsed the terms and said that they would accept them at the meeting at Indianapolis on Tuesday.

The nature of the new offer was not being disclosed. MYSTERY OVER WHOLE AFFAIR. Washington, Dec. 7.—Government proposals for settling the coal strike were tonight cooked in a well of mystery which promised to lift only at Indianapolis Tuesday, when the United Mine Workers will be held upon to consider them.

Attorney-General Palmer and his special assistant, Judge Ames, were travelling to Indianapolis tonight, the same train with John L. Lewis, Acting President, and William Green, Secretary of the Mine Workers' Union, whose secret visit and equally secret conference yesterday with Palmer and Joseph P. Tumulty, Secretary to the President, in Washington, was followed by a lively debate in official circles as to the details of the proposed programme.

These details still remained doubtful late tonight, after Attorney-General Palmer and Mr. Lewis and Secretary Green had left for Indianapolis, where the miners are to confer on Friday whether the offer shall be accepted. Government officials were optimistic about the outcome of the meeting, and predicted that the strike would be at an end within a few days, that pending the meeting on Tuesday, they refused to discuss the matter. It was intimated strongly, however, that a 14 per cent. wage increase would stand.

It developed today that Fuel Administrator Garfield, speaking with brevity and tact, admitted only that to the situation.

"My position has not been budged one inch, and will not be," he said. It was recalled that yesterday Mr. Garfield had reiterated that no per cent could be added to the price of coal to finance wage increases to the miners greater than the increase he suggested which operators could pay out of profits, and that the Government was behind a concrete proposition from the President looking to the speedy settlement of the strike, which had been taken before Lewis and Green, and that they had agreed to recommend it to the National Board and Policy Committee of the Mine Workers' Union.

TEXT OF STATEMENT. Mr. Palmer's statement follows: "A conference was held at the Department of Justice in Washington on Saturday, at which were present the Attorney-General, Mr. Tumulty, Secretary of the President, and William Green, Secretary-Treasurer of the United Mine Workers of America, with a view to reaching an understanding between the Government and the miners which would result in a settlement of the coal strike situation.

At the conference there was submitted a definite concrete proposition from the President, looking to a speedy termination of the strike situation and an adjustment of the entire controversy. The officers of the United Mine Workers, in response to the suggestion of the President, agreed to have called a meeting of the representatives of all the district organizations, and the International Executive Board of the United Mine Workers, to be held in Indianapolis on Tuesday, Dec. 16, at 2 o'clock p. m., at which time the President's proposal will be considered and the acceptance of the miners urged by Mr. Lewis and Mr. Green. The Attorney-General will be in Indianapolis on Tuesday.

KNOW NOTHING OF IT. Indianapolis, Dec. 7.—Government officials and representatives of the United Mine Workers of America professed ignorance to-night of the terms of the proposal for settlement of the strike of coal miners of the country agreed upon last night in Washington by officials of the Miners' Union and Attorney-General Palmer and Joseph Tumulty, the President's secretary. Henry S. Mitchell, special assistant to Mr. Palmer, who is in Indianapolis to assist the United States District Attorney in the investigation of alleged violations of the Lever Act and increase which he had made to the miners on Nov. 26, as well as behind all of the principles enunciated by him at that time, and that so far as he was concerned there was not the slightest thought of any compromise whatsoever.

This attitude on the part of Dr. Garfield is accepted as indicating that he will withdraw from the plans for a settlement of the strike in the event that the agreement which it is believed will be reached at Indianapolis when Mr. Palmer meets with the officials of the miners' union in any way departs from the offer which he (Dr. Garfield) made on Nov. 26.

There was nothing definite today to substantiate the belief that the proposition which is now to be considered was in the nature of a compromise. In fact, the public has been given to understand that the 14 per cent. increase which Dr. Garfield offered will not be raised, at least unless a Board of Review, as suggested by Dr. Garfield, finds that it is warranted.

The position taken by the officials who conducted the negotiations yesterday is that the decision by Lewis and Green to urge their membership to accept the President's programme is a great victory for the Government, and means a settlement of the strike on a basis which will meet with public approval.

A special session of the Federal grand jury is scheduled to start at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning to take up charges of conspiracy on the part of the miners and operators. According to Government attorneys, they have evidence that the operators, who have conspired with the miners in violation of Government statutes, have formed a combination of operators alone, intended to limit the production of coal.

The operators have declared that they welcome an investigation of the charges against them, asserting that such a probe will prove the inaccuracy of allegations that they have been conspiring with the miners to limit coal production. Miners' officials have remained silent with regard to the approaching investigation.

The content charges set for Tuesday morning will bring before the grand jury charges that the miners' officials had violated the Federal Statute against conspiracy, charged by United States District Judge A. B. Anderson against encouragement of the strike. Evidence against the district officials of the mine-owners are involved in the case, and in addition special charges of violation of the injunction by payment of strike benefits have been filed against thirteen officials of two local unions of Clinton, Ind.

VICTORY FOR GOVERNMENT. Washington, Dec. 7.—A dramatic announcement made by the Department of Justice at 1 o'clock this morning that Acting President Lewis and Secretary Green, of the United Mine Workers of America, had agreed to a proposition for the settlement of the coal strike, submitted by President Wilson, was followed by a lively debate in official circles as to the details of the proposed programme.

These details still remained doubtful late tonight, after Attorney-General Palmer and Mr. Lewis and Secretary Green had left for Indianapolis, where the miners are to confer on Friday whether the offer shall be accepted. Government officials were optimistic about the outcome of the meeting, and predicted that the strike would be at an end within a few days, that pending the meeting on Tuesday, they refused to discuss the matter. # BECKETT APPEALS TO MR. DRURY

No Combine Among the Wholesale Grocers.

Tells Him Why Hearst Was Defeated.

The following open letter to Premier Drury has been handed the Times by Mr. H. C. Beckett for publication: Hamilton, Dec. 6, 1919. The Hon. E. C. Drury, Prime Minister for Ontario, Toronto, Ont.

Dear Mr. Drury—Beg to enclose you herewith pamphlet concerning the wholesale grocers of Canada, which I am sure you will be pleased to have, as it throws considerable light on the stand taken by the "organizational" known as the Wholesale Grocers' Association of Canada for the conduct of business in Canada on honorable, ethical business lines.

We are fighters, and we are not selfishly and ignorantly trying to ruin the commercial prosperity of this country of ours, and incidentally when they have succeeded in driving every legitimate business channel into bankruptcy, then the poor consumers will pay; and pay dearly for the short-sightedness of many of our politicians.

The press are wondering why the people of Ontario wanted a change of Government. There were many contributing causes, the principal one of which was the absolute indifference and helplessness of the Whitney-Hearst regime to cope with the question of declining towns and villages all over the province. This is a matter that should interest you intensely.

Those who stand for a change of Government were not all farmers; thousands of them were not farmers. They were the people who had their ear to the ground and have had for many years.

In voting for a change of Government the people hardly expected to see the Whitney-Hearst regime into the ring, but, according to press reports, one would think they were going to see the Whitney-Hearst regime into the ring for the farmers. The people of this province are hoping your are too big a man and too broad in your ideas of national up-building, to be a party to such a thing.

The wholesale grocers from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and they are a body of men, who stand for high principles in business. They are not a body of men, who stand for high principles in business.

Every province in the Dominion, have reason to believe some individual has ingratiated himself into your confidence and good graces, and led you to believe there is a big combine among the wholesale grocery trade of this country to work to the detriment of the consumer, and that you have taken steps through the Attorney-General's department to justify your action in taking the necessary proceedings to bring the wholesale grocers of Canada before the criminal law.

Now, it is what the Whitney-Hearst regime did, and the reason they did it was that some scheming individuals got the ear of the Whitney-Hearst regime, and loaded them up with a lot of misrepresentations, to such an extent that the Attorney-General of the Whitney-Hearst regime charged the wholesale grocers of Canada charged under the Food and Drug Act, and the result was the celebrated trial, just known as the Gold case or the Gold case.

After the preliminary examination before the case was sent up for trial, the Ontario Government furnished that had been imposed upon and did not want to proceed further, they wanted to let the case drop, but it coming before the highest tribunal in Canada; but not so the wholesale grocers. The whole sale grocers waited patiently for the trial to come on, and when patience ceased to be virtuous, a very determined committee waited upon the Ontario Cabinet Ministers to insist that the case not come to trial at the next sitting of the high court, the whole matter would be placed at any time and the Government would stop.

The case did come to trial. The wholesale grocers of Canada were not

1. That the wholesale grocers had acted as honorable business men.

2. That they have been made the victims of some very misguiding people, who had secretly got the ear of the powers that be, and loaded them up with a lot of misrepresentations, to such an extent that the Attorney-General of the Whitney-Hearst regime charged the wholesale grocers of Canada charged under the Food and Drug Act, and the result was the celebrated trial, just known as the Gold case or the Gold case.

recognition, both in the press and by unthinking people, we feel now we have a change of Government that we should not hide our light under a bushel, but come out boldly and offer to render any assistance we can to the channels of trade, both in Ontario and in the whole Dominion.

Wishing you every success, and wishing your regime was such as to commend itself to every class of people in the community. Yours very respectfully,

H. C. Beckett.

FEMALE RULERS

Women in Germany Take Advantage of the Suffrage.

Germany's suffragettes, who are not militant have been quick to seize the opportunities for equal rights which men have been offered by the new constitution. Greater Berlin gained the honor during the last week of September of choosing a woman as Alderman, the first to hold the place. Famous by the laughable exploits of William Voigt, the colored, elected as Alderman, Frau Sophie Elm, an Alderman, Independent Socialist, Potsdam, too, has elected its first woman councillor, Frau Krone, an employee in a telegraph office there.

A statistical investigation discloses the remarkable fact that nearly seven per cent. of all Germany's legislators are women. One hundred and fifty-three women are sitting in German Parliaments. The heaviest representation is 38 in the National Assembly, and there are 21 in the Prussian Assembly. The highest percentage of women is in the legislature of Mecklenburg, where there are three women to male legislators. In the Danzig Assembly, where there are two women to 18 men, and in the Hamburg Assembly, which numbers 17 women out of 184 legislators. Eighteen state parliaments in Germany have women, only seven have not. It is significant that of Germany's women legislators the largest number, 64, are Social Democrats, 27 belong to the Democratic party, 19 to the Catholic Centre, nine are Independent Socialists, nine are Reactionary Conservatives.

Following the example of the first English militant suffragettes, Hans Bender, a Spartanist leader, wanted a hunger strike in the Bogel Jail recently. Bender commanded the Spartanist strikers, which occurred in Wolff Telegraf Bureau building during the Spartacist revolt last January. He refused food for five days, in protest against what he called "treatment unworthy of human beings." Jail authorities refused to permit food to be taken to Bender from outside after he refused to eat a loaf of bread that was brought in to him. Bender recovered his appetite.

STRENGTH IN RYE AND WHEAT

Oats Advance On Heavy Liquidation.

Supplied by Dominion, Forwood & Co., (mercantile stock exchange), Chicago, Dec. 8.—Sentiment of the grain trade was more in favor of the constructive side at the close than it was at the opening. Strength in rye and wheat caused shorts to think again, and the market advanced. Absorption of the cash corn and the strength of the cash values, with prices the highest of the season, was a factor that was not overlooked. There was no unexpected weather ahead, and, with the liquidation of the west, there were no indications of an excessive movement. A number of receiving houses reported the largest number of drafts on this season while others experienced the reverse. It is the general belief of the trade that until there are indications of a balance wheel, nervous markets are to be expected. That of a balance wheel, advance 1 1/2 on top of the heavy liquidation, sales the last two days created an increase among traders. The market had more stability than it was generally credited with.
